ALFRED R. GLOBUS, D.Sc.

Dr. Globus is an excellent example of the way in which a scientific background creates and aids an interest in coin collecting.

With his training in metallurgy, his knowledge of metals made him admire the permanence and beauty of gold, and his desire for scientific perfection led him to seek coins that demonstrated the apex of the coiner's art and technical precision.

Dr. Globus began collecting coins in 1957 with an intensity that rivals his achievements in scientific research, carefully acquiring choice specimens of gold coins by type, always seeking those with their pristine beauty and varied toning intact, regardless of cost.

As President of a well-known chemical company, under the constant tensions of business, this hobby has provided many years of relaxation and pleasure. Still an avid collector, he has merely expanded his interests to many other facets of coin collecting.

This coin was sold as Lot 182 in the Hess-Bank Leu Sale No. 47 of October 20, 1970 and used as an illustration on the catalogue cover. All the Portuguese coins in the Sale were from the estate of the Countess Douglas, widow of Dom Manoel II, last King of Portugal (1908-1910), who died in 1932. The pedigree of the piece as having come from the collection of the Royal House of Braganza is attested by a letter from Bank Leu initialed by Jean Paul Divo which accompanies the Lot. But apart from having belonged to a Queen-in-exile, the type is Very Rare and not often found on the market today.

PIONEER AND TERRITORIAL GOLD COINS

NOTE: These coins are among the most interesting in the entire American gold series. They were issued by private assayers, under the authority of the United States Government, before the establishment of branch Mints in the gold producing areas of the South and West. The transformation of the raw gold into an easily recognizable means of exchange greatly facilitated business dealings in the developing frontier areas. All coins are rare. The Globus specimens are particularly attractive because of their choice condition.
